TIMES BUILDING.

ECUTHWEST CORNER PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE AND

Telephone-Editorial Rooms, 495, Fusiness Office, SC.

WASHINGTON, D. C., APRIL 20, 1895.

Subscribers to "The Times" will confer a favor by promptly reporting any discour tesy of collectors, or neglect of duty on the part of the carriers. Complaints either by mail or in person will receive prompt attention. Papers should be de-Exered to all parts of the city by 6:30 e clock each morning, including Sunday.

TWO PRICES FOR GAS.

An excellent argument will be found it nother column why Congress should regulate the price of gas used in the District, Consumers in Georgetown are charged 25 cents more per thousand than is paid in Washington, and yet both gas companies are practically controlled by the Washington Gaslight Company.

In other large cities it has been found necessary to curb the cupidity of gas companies by fixing the price and regulating the sale of gas through ordinances. Nothing has ever been done in the District to protect consumers, because the Congressional committees have beretofore been owned body and soul by the gas monopoly. An opportunity now presents itself to change this condition

The next Congress will be Republican. and there will be a reorganization of the District Committees. The Fenale Com mittee will probably not be radically changed, and there may be some difficulty In securing a favorable report, but the effort is worth the trial, and a monster petition should be prepared asking for foliar gas.

Cut out the coupon on this page and send it to The Times. Add your names and influence to secure freedom from the rule of the gas monopoly. Other cities have taws regulating the price of gas, and there is no reason why Washington should not receive similar treatment.

ALEXANDRIA COUNTY POLITICS.

Politics in Alexandria county is in a chaotic state. Party libes are obliterated and the contest is between the lawabiding and lawlessness, betwixt the reputable element and the bushwhackers of society. It is estimated that more than one-half the vote is controlled by the outlaw track and its kindred dens of vice, and that the present commonwealth attorney is the favorite candidate of this disreputable class.

Should Commonwealth Attorney Johnson be elected there will probably be no change in affairs at Jackson City and the outlaw track. Past deeds are the only criteriou by which future performances can be judged, and as Mr. Johnson has heretofere failed to prosecute fawlessness he will likely continue his inaction should the lough element succeed in re-electing him Now as the time for every reputable voter in Alexandria county to Blow his colors. Thieves, thugs, gamblers, and dangerous characters of every kind disgrace her soil and merace the fair name of Virginia. Under the present regime no prosecutions can be had, and if there are the law they should be elected. It is a question of law and order, of a State's reputation of freedom from crime, and of protection for the young of both sexes. Ballots should be cast accordingly,

CUBAN INDEPENDENCE.

It is claimed that a bill has been prepared to submit to Congress for the recognition of Cuban independence. By the time Congress meets the revolt will be over, the leaders shot or captured, and the struggle for freedom gone from the public mind. Spain has already nearly ended the rebel-Ilon, and a few weeks longer will see Cuba once more completely in the toils of her

There is but one way for Caba to gain her independence, and that is by a peaceful struggle. Geu. Campos has promised political reforms. Let him see that Caba is either represented in the Spanish Cortes or that opportunity is given for a local self-government

Cuba should stand in the same relation to Spain that Canada does to England As a revenue-supplying province she is the richest of Spain's outside possessions, and liberal treatment now at a time when there is smuch dissatisfaction would save the cost of putting down insurrections by

The time has gone by when civilized people will sabmit to despotic, arbitrary forms of government, especially from foreign sources. Coba, in demanding her independence, is but following the general trend of public sentiment. If Cubans could control their own affairs, subject to the conditions Spain imposes on her own people, they would probably be contented. but as matters now stand they are justified in protesting.

The income tax falls as far short of realizing popular expectation as does the present administration.

The cry "Addicks or nobody" is getting monotopous. Nobody has been the public choice ever since Addicks went into the race, and stands the better chance of the two.

Those of our renders who one gas will recognize the aptness of this morning's cartoon. A large gas bill does not always depend upon the high price of gas, especially if the magnifying glasses of the man who rends the meter are of sufficient multiplying power.

Notwithstanding the burdensome couditions imposed by Japan. China can thank her celestial stars that she is not dealing with the beef trust.

The assertion of Candidate Sibley that free silver would make Denver the center of population will not advance the price of town lots in that city.

W. A. C. BENEFIT A SUCCESS.

The C. A. C. Gymnasts Volunteered Their Services and gave a Fine Exhibition. The gymnastic and athletic exhibition give nat the club house of the Washington Athletic Club for its benefit last night was one of the best enteratioments of the kind ever given in this city, both in point of numbers of participants and in quality of work done

The benfit was a thorough success both in a financial and athletic sense.

In addition to the members of the W.A.C. who took part, Prof. John Crossley and the gymnasium team of the Columbia Athletic Clob were a prominent feature and the work of the visitors was a revelation to many of the spectators for it was of that sort seldom seen outside of professional ranks. The programme included exercises on the The programme inclided exercises on the horizontal and parallel bars respectively, by Sewell, Ross, Allen, Craig, Harmon, Shelley and Prof. Crossley, all of C. THURBER'S SMILING VISITOR

He Represented Himself as Vice-President Stevenson's Nephew.

Teld a Cock-and-Bull Story and Wanted to Berrow Seven Dollars But Didn't Succeed.

Mr. Henry Thurber was selected last week as the victim of a confidence scheme which, however, did not work, for the good and sufficient reason that the President's private secretary was notably lacking in confidence in the claims preferred by the young man who essayed to deplete his pocketbook.

It was in the afternoon when Mr. Thurber had left the White House and returned home While he was enjoying a quiet smoke there was a ring at the door and word was brought him that a pephew of the Vice-President wished to see him on business of the utmost imporatnace.

Without waiting to change his smoking jacket, Mr. Thurber hastened down stairs where he found a very smiling young man who introduced himself as Mr. Stevenson, ir., nephew of the Vice-President. The puery as to the nature of the urgent business deery as to the nature of the usgest paincess elicited the reply that the smiling young man found himself in a most embarrassing predicament from which he wished the immediate aid of the President's private scretary to extricate himself.

As a stranger in the city he had arrived that morning, only to find when he went to pay his bill at the hotel and purchase his lighest to continue his former that he was ticket to continue his journey that he was ticket to continue his journey that he was exactly $7 short of the requisite amount. Of course, had the Vice-President been in town the difficulty would have been at once obviated, but as it was, neither the Vice-President nor any member of his family happened to be in Washington at that time and therefore recourse had to be had to a stranger.

In this strait, it had suggested itself to the young manthatifhe could see the President's private secretary things would be settled at once in the most satisfactory manner. Of course, the nephew went on to explain that in so applying to Mr. Thurber he had actually a strain which present in the control of the course. recourse to a plan in which personal mortification was mixed to such large degree that he had hesitated for a long time before making up his mind to apply for the sum stated.

Mr. Thurber responded in the pleasantest fashion that it would give him the most inmitigated pleasure to accommodate the Vice-President's nephew in this or any other respectively and the could establish his iden-tity. Failing to do so, the President's private secretary failed to see how or in what manner he could accommodate the young man with the desired sum of $7. Thereupon the young man parted company with his smiles, and after a uscless protest that he was being misunderstood and treated with unfairness in being thus laid under suspicion, palled himself to-gether and made a diginified retreat. Coincident with his departure Mr. Thur-ber communicated with pales beadquarber communicated with police headquar-ters, but so far the young mun has not been located, neither has the Vice President the slightest knowledge of the existence of any such nephew.

fourth Milestone.

Choice Solos, Choruses and Recitations, and Addresses Provided For a Host of Prominent German Citizens.

The famous Washington Saengerbund has passed another milestone in its history. and last night celebrated the anniversary that places it almost within hail of the half century mark. It was the forty fourth birthday and was given a regal baptism of song, with other exercises to match, and last of all the guests enjoyed a first-class lunch put up by Caterer Alex

George. The nusical features embraced some choice numbers, including solos by F. Rebstok, J. J. Fisher, Leo Stiefel, and Emil Holer, besides which the society gave some of its best numbers. There were recitations also by Mr. James Mahoney; an original poem by Mr. Frank Claudy, an original recitation by Mr. R. Broiler, an original chorus also, composed by Mr. Chandey especially for the occasion, in which song love, friendship, and wine were the lead-

Douglass, Hon. Crosby S. Noyes, Mr. Bernard Green, and Messrs. Pearson, Johnson, Rice and Miller, a quartette who sang patriotic airs.
The newsboys to the number of one hundred, occupied the seats on the left of the sunge, while the Victor Dram Corps, twenty-four in line, under Capt. R. S. Fletcher, and Instructor Fugate, took position on the right of the singe.

After prover by Rev. It. Sunderland.

After prayer by Rev. Dr. Sunderland, the quartet saug "America," and they were followed by a concise and interest-ing statement of the history of the Aid Society by Dr. Childs. He said among society by Dr. Childs. He said among other things that the new home for the society would soon be an accomplished fact, as the $30,000 bequest of Mrs. Moulton was now, after tedious litigation, available by the trustees. Dr. Childs referred with regret to the fact that Mr. Noyes had declined to be re-elected president of the board.

Dr. Mackaye-Smith then talked in a delightfully free and easy conversational style to the boys about the flag and the croes of the revolution, and explained to them the meaning of the flag and the citizen's duty to that banner. Then the Victor Drum Corps blew a blast and ratified a rattle which all but raised the roof, and did raise the nearth. and did raise the newsboys to the high-est pitch of excitement. They then listened

We don't want our ads to appear exaggerated-nor do we want the reputation of being boasters-but sometimes we have such surprising values that we're almost afraid to advertise them for this very reason.
